DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 19-27 is allowed.
2. Claim 29-30 is objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Prior art fails to show a hysteresis ring abutting a peripheral surface on the rotor wherein the pole fingers are interconnected by a non-magnetizable material and a magnet body thick walled and the pole fingers being integral in the two parts of the magnet body and being tapered to their free end in axial direction relative to their radial and tangential extension and being tapered to a point relative to their radial expansion.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 28 and 31 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Edelstahlwerke (8235610.6) in view of Fey(4713567)

Edelstahlwerke substantially discloses the claim invention. However, Edelstahlwerke do not teach a magnet body radially divided by the magnet coil and both first and second part being centered relative to each other and interconnected via a center ring.

Fey teaches a break device comprising: a magnetic body (19) the magnet coil and both first (21) and second(23) part being centered relative to each other and interconnected via a center ring(15a) for the purpose of interconnecting the first and second part of the magnet. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to modify the magnetic motor of Edelstahlwerke with the teaching of Fey's magnetic core structure for the purpose of ensuring adequate cooling for the rotor.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 19-27 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of
